Dr. Tamara Martsenyuk holds a Ph.D. in Sociology; she is an Associate Professor at the Department of Sociology, University of Kyiv-Mohyla Academy (Ukraine). She studied and conducted research in the USA, Canada, Germany, Sweden, Norway, Belgium, Hungary, and others. Tamara teaches courses “Introduction to Gender Studies,” “Gender and Politics,” “Masculinity and Men’s Studies,” “Social Problems in Ukraine and the World,” and others. After evacuation from Kyiv due to a full-scale invasion in the spring of 2022, Tamara was hosted by Free University Berlin. Since July 2022, she has been a visiting scholar at Leuphana Universität Lüneburg (Germany).

Her research interest relates to gender and social structure, including women’s participation in the protests and women’s access to the military. In 2015-2023 Tamara (with the research team) conducted five sociological studies called “Invisible Battalion” that demonstrated the successes and challenges of gender equality implementation in the Ukrainian armed forces and the military education, the status of female veterans, and the problem of sexual harassment in the military. She is the author of more than 100 academic publications, chapters of textbooks, and chapters of books, particularly in Ukrainian: “Gender for All. Challenging Stereotypes” (2017), “Why Not Be Afraid of Feminism” (2018), “Defenders of the Galaxy”: Power and Crisis in the Male World” (2020). She authored chapters in Gender, Politics, and Society in Ukraine (2012), New Imaginaries: Youthful Reinvention of Ukraine’s Cultural Paradigm (2015), and other books. Her papers have been published in the Journal of Soviet and Post-Soviet Politics and Society, Problems of Post-Communism, and others. Martsenyuk is a member of the International Sociological Association (ISA), the Association for the Study of Nationalities (ASN), and other professional bodies.

Tamara is engaged in educational activism and conducts training for a broad target audience: journalists, think tanks, civil servants, politicians, civic activists, and more. Helps NGOs and think tanks develop internal policies on non-discrimination and gender equality. Tamara is the author of a popular online course on Prometheus titled “Women and Men:

Gender for All.” Tamara shares the idea of public sociology – science and research for social change and is therefore constantly involved in various international research or teaching projects.
